Agriculture and parametrics

At Liberty Mutual Re, we underwrite worldwide Agriculture & Parametric business from our Paris office. Our pricing expertise and innovative approach enables us to respond quickly to our clients, cedants and brokers by providing a structured and tailored service.

Our expertise

There is a growing reliance on insurance to support Agriculture risk management as government support and subsidies around crop risks change. At Liberty Mutual Re, we offer a wide range of solutions to meet clients' needs.

The Agriculture & Parametrics team includes market leading talent, writing Worldwide Hail, Multi-Peril Crop, Aquaculture, Forestry and Livestock products. Our covers can be provided on a treaty proportional or non-proportional basis as well as on a facultative basis.

In addition, we offer index-based coverages to increase our clients resilience against numerous types of risk including: extreme weather, NatCat and non-damage business interruption (NDBI) for non-agro risks. In response to the growing number of natural hazards that significantly affect developing and emerging countries, we are also committed to sponsoring and participating in public-private partnership projects to support post-disaster emergency relief and help economies rebound.

Our team is renowned within the market for providing a quality service, which is at the heart of our business model, leading to excellent relationships with our clients and brokers. By combining parametric insurance with state-of-the-art technology, we can offer fast payment without loss adjustment to help mitigate your risks and protect your balance sheets.
